Part 1 - “Healing Sounds”

Approximately how old is the oldest healing instrument we know of?

Indigenous people of Northern Australia

Digeridoo – 40,000 year old

- The Aborigines used it in ceremonial rituals and for its healing properties
- Helping to heal broken bones, muscle tears, and illnesses of every kind
- Sounds emitted by the “yidaki” are in alignment with modern sound healing technology
- Mayans used a very similar instrument as well

Ancient Egypt

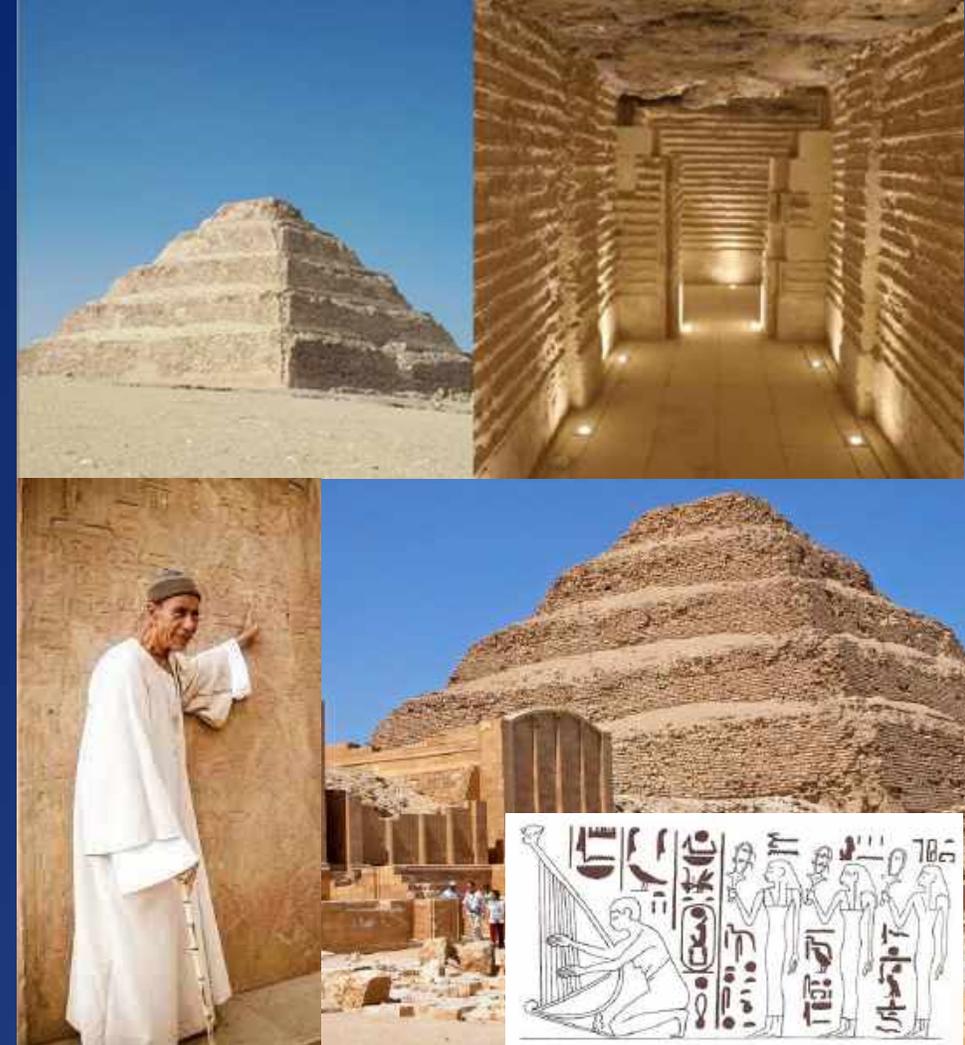

“Toning” - 5.000 years ago

- Egyptians manipulated the vowel sound using breath and voice to render therapeutic sounds.
- Used in ceremonial rituals and for its healing properties
- Musicologist Laurel Elizabeth Keys writes in her book that “Toning is an ancient method of healing. The idea is to simply restore people to their harmonic patterns.”

Ancient Egypt

- Abdel Hakim Awyan
- Egyptians mastered the use of sound technology for the purpose of mind-body healing
- Djosers step pyramid in Saqqara had chambers with stone beds for medical treatment
- Priests of the temple diagnosed their patients and treated them with vibrational or sound energy, using resonant chambers tuned to a specific frequency
- Egyptian priestesses used “Sistra” A musical rattle instrument with metal discs creating sound & ultrasound. A healing modality used today in hospitals and clinics

Djosers Step pyramid

Tibetan bowls- Tibet

6000 BC

- Used for deep relaxation and muscle regeneration
- To relieve pain in the joints, muscles, and shoulders
- Improve the digestive system, circulation
- Helping with headaches and migraine
- Eliminate the toxins from the body

“OM” Chanting - Tibet

We Are Healthier When We Chant

Monks that stopped chanting “OM” regularly were sick more often. It boosts our immune system.

One Study at the University of Cleveland showed that those who did chanting had a psycholinguistic effect on their body... which increased good brain chemistry, so they started healing.

“OM” Chanting - Tibet

Chanting Slows the Aging Process

One study by Lavretsky in 2011 showed that when people did chanting, they actually had an increase in cellular telomerase activity... which slows our cellular aging process.

Chanting Creates Better Sleep

With fewer stress chemicals in our brains and bodies, we sleep better, and have more energy

Sound healing in Ancient Greece

Pythagoras (circa 500 BC)

- Father of Geometry
 - Father of Mathematics
 - Father of Music Therapy
- Discovered and taught that using sound and harmonic frequencies could heal
 - He was the first person to prescribe music as medicine
 - The Pythagoras Mystery School – flute and lyre were used as the primary healing instruments

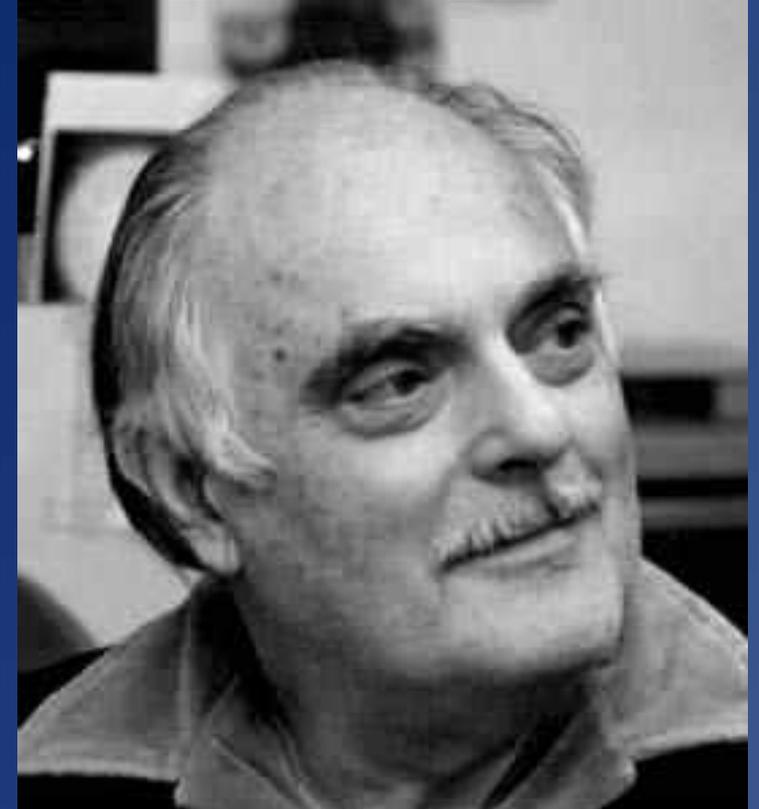

Part 2 - "Healing Crystals"

Crystal healing – Mechanism

Dr. Marcel Vogel – IBM researcher

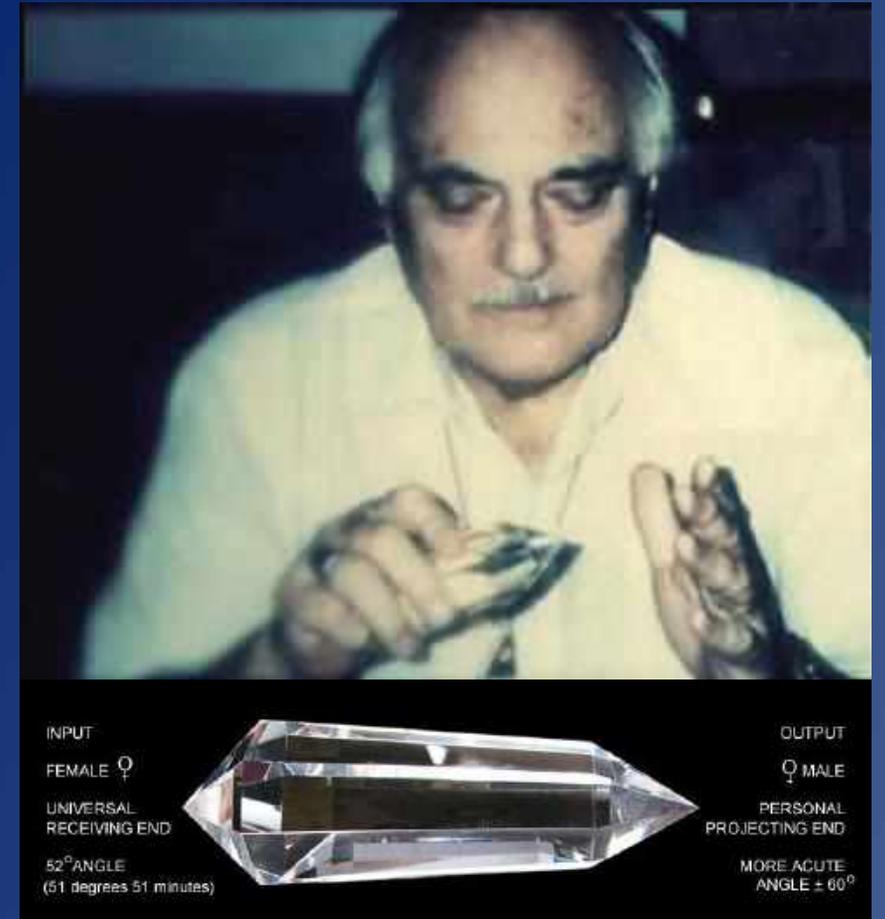

- Dr. Vogel developed the first liquid crystal displays (LCD) and the magnetic coating for IBM's disc drive
- Discovered that Crystals are able to record information

Crystal healing – Mechanism

Dr. Vogel found out that double terminated wands, cut in the same proportions as the pyramids of Egypt and the Tree of Life, are able to transmit energy that can be measured scientifically.

He observed that when pointed at another person, the person's thoughts and emotions were amplified, altering his/her state of consciousness

Crystal healing – Mechanism

Crystals usually work in two ways

In the direct method, the vibrational frequency emanated by the crystals influences the targeted area directly, helping to restore balance to the area.

In the indirect method involves using the vibrational frequencies emanated by the crystal to stimulate the body's natural healing mechanisms, hence indirectly assisting in healing the targeted area.

Crystal healing - History

The first historical references to the use of crystals come from ancient the Ancient Sumerians (about 6000 years ago)

The origins of crystal healing are tied to

- Ancient Egypt and Mesopotamia
- India
- China
- Native America
- Ancient Greece, and Rome

Sound & crystal therapy goes thousand of years back

- Digeridoo – 40,000 years
- Sound healing temples & toning in Egypt – 6,000 years
- The Pythagoras Mystery School – 2,500 years back
- Dr. Marcel Vogel - converting, storing, and amplifying energies

"The Somavedic is an incredible, easy solution to recharge your body from the damaging effects of EMFs in your home. We can no longer ignore the health damage that EMFs create in the human body. Somavedic devices are a part of the new wave of healthcare and should be something every household has"

Nutrition and Functional Medicine
Expert
Dr. Mindy Pelz

"Loving my new Amber Somavedic device and as a professional biohacker, I love seeing the changes to my HRV from the first night I slept with it in my bedroom. Great device that really makes a difference in productivity and sleep quality."

Functional Medicine Expert
Jill C. Carnahan, MD

"Moving from the mountains of Topanga CA to the busier part of Venice, California, I was able to feel a difference in my nervous system response to the environment. Being a highly sensitive person, the environmental change created more tension in my body. More sympathetic dominance and poor sleep. When I received and hooked up my Somavedic, what I noticed was that my nervous system was much more at rest in my own home. Which led to deeper, more restorative sleep"

“Future”

Imagine a total regeneration of your body every 10 -15 years

If we manage to influence the electromagnetic interactions in our cells, we can reestablish coherency.

Chambers/beds where our bodies would be exposed to highly coherent fields that would re-program our bodies back into homeostasis (coherency). This way, the body won't be "breaking down" on the cellular level.
